

FORMED is the formal and the informal, the past brought into the future and the dysfunctional made functional.

We are a fresh, dynamic practice, passionate about design.

Formed Architects and Designers appreciate the form, function and aesthetics of design and all which that encompasses. We are architects but our passion for design spreads beyond the realm of architecture as we know it. We apply a high level of diligence and thought process into all aspects of our work. We challenge the boundaries of architecture but always ensure that the end product affects its environment and in turn interacts with its occupier.

The way we design, build and inhabit space needs to embody a much more wholesome approach, at FORMED, we aim to achieve this.
